Dedication

CAFETERIA WORKERS

To the three kind ladies, Mrs. Baer, "Gustie", Mrs. Anderson, "Mary", and Mrs. Glamm, "Esther", whose interest in all of us, pupils and teachers, is evidenced by their "service with a smile" as they greet us at the cafeteria counter, we dedicate our yearbook, "The Clarion."

 ST. CLAIR GARAGE

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the senior class of 1959, of the town of St. Clair, county of Blue Earth, and state of Minnesota, being of unstable mind and memory do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

To St. Clair High we will the traditions that it has set to achieve, the respect and prestige of the community.

I, George Hubmer, do hereby will and bequeath my "educated elbows" to Bruce Miller, in hopes that he will soon master their use.

I, Jim Hodapp, will and bequeath my curly hair to Louie Mrotz.

I, Karen Sharp, having consistently maintained a position on the honor roll and having considerable sympathy for others not so fortunate bequeath my position there to Douglas Conner.

I, Conley "Iron Muscles" Wilder, bestow upon one certain freshman boy my Samson-like strength so he may defend himself.

I, Pat Wilder, proficient in the art of bewitching one certain man for a sum total of three years do will and bequeath that art to Pat Walton.

I, Donna Denn, the Walter Winchell of the senior class, do bequeath my knack for getting hold of those choice tid-bits of news to Kathy Zavoral.

I, Carol Frank, who pride myself in the ability to refrain from going steady, will this art of perseverance to Betty Schnoor.

I, Ross Wilder, hoping for more and better Latin students, do hereby bequeath my glowing brilliance in Latin to Karen Olson.

I, Marvin Nicolai, having led the Student Council for the past year, will and bequeath my leadership to David Holbrook.

I, Gerald Schull, having mastered the art of collecting "Brownie Points" do hereby leave the remains of my collection to Gerald LeBrun.

I, Velma Loeffler, having a reserved ticket at Hardeggers for Saturday night, will my good times there to Marlene Baer.

I, Dave Bestmann, being the tallest boy in St. Clair High, bequeath my six feet and four inches to that Irishman on the faculty,

I, Jerome Lang, enjoying the privilege of being the sole senior who has official permission to attend English class only three times a week and social studies class only two times a week, so hereby will then and bequeath this privilege to one Junior, who it appears will be in dire need of same--Tom O'Herin.

I, Harlan Witt, being president of the F.F.A. and having a thorough knowledge of farming, will and bequeath my knowledge of said subject to Mr. Hartog.

I, Jean Hemshrot, having a dislike for loud noises do hereby will and bequeath my quietness to one in dire need of this same trait--Pat Walton.

I, Ed Denn, being a sincere believer in strong discipline, will my ability to get along with Mr. Young to Ray Ward.

I, Donna Marzinske, being well informed on weddings do hereby will and bequeath my wedding books to Darla Frank.

I, Gary Fredrickson, hoping for more music minded people, bequeath my position as trumpet soloist to Leon Schwichtenberg.

I, Roy Pemble, having become an expert at constructing stage scenery, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to Gerald Mrotz.

I, Sandra Russell, having mastered the art of fine handwriting and drawing, leave said talent to Judy King.

I, Phillip Wingen, will nothing to nobody because I have nothing to will be anybody.

We, Mary Lea Sack, Betty Schroeder, and Lorraine Splinter having found a mate and secured rings, as testimony of our fetching ways, do hereby will and bequeath said ability to Mr. Young and Miss Billing.

I, Joni Johnston, do hereby will and bequeath my black tresses to Judy Hemshrot who has made quite a collection of various hued locks.

I, Cathy, frankly Ernestine, Kruse-do hereby will and bequeath my candid comments to the gentle tongued sophomore lass, Joan Pemble.

I, one dark haired gentleman, who prefers to remain anonymous do hereby will and bequeath my right to succeed Chester himself in ketchen them thar evil critters--to the red headed Irish cop of the junior class.

This being the sum total of the distribution of our possessions, we the senior class of '59 of St. Clair, do hereby proclaim this to be our last will and testament.

Signed and witnessed on this the 15th day of May in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine.

PROPHECY

Here it is! The age of space and space travel has arrived. It is the year 1969 and men in their little space ships are rocketing to the moon, Mars, and Venus. Almost everyone has these new space ships, but Ed Denn is content to go on winning the Indianapolis 500 in his souped up blue Chevrolet. After he showed us his awards, Ed told us he had a letter from Roy Pemble who is teaching Agriculture at the University of Minnesota. He mentioned in his letter that Phillip Wingen had just been elected Homecoming King at the University.

We now board the spaceways plane and we are greeted by our charming stewardess, Catherine Kruse who has completed all her training, but soon the marines will be landing. Finally the plane a landing and we are met by Dave Juberian the greatest newspaper man in the Universe. He has to get his story and keep the press rolling. Dave gives us the address of Conley Wilder, president of Yo-Yos Incorporated. Conley is a very wealthy man, as Yo-Yos have become popular on the moon. We are asked to meet Conley's banker, and to our astonishment, it is Gary Fredrickson. Gary has just returned from the stars where he visited a certain nurse.

There are no more classmates in that city and we move farther north. By accident we stumble upon Dave Bestmann who is busy sawing down a tree. David said he would like to do some traveling, but there isn't any demand for lumberjacks on the moon. Dave also tells us that Velma Loeffler doesn't live very far away, so we go to visit her. She finally decided which guy she is going to marry and is gradually settling down. There is a new type supermarket going up in this area and we find it is owned by Jean Hemshrot. We can't talk to Jean right now for she is busy in St. Clair with the Hemshrot spacemarket located beside the St. Clair School. However we meet the engineer of this project and she is recognized as Karen Sharp, the first woman engineer to graduate from St. Clair High.

We now travel to Springfield where we are greeted by Joni Johnston. She invites us for coffee and tells us that she married her Kenny after all. As we leave Springfield, we meet a space ship that has this sign on it: Have accordian--Will travel--Mary Lea Sack. It is getting late at night and we meet a Ford Galaxy. We recognize the driver as Jerome Lang who is going to do some coon hunting.

In the morning we stop at Le Center where Lorraine Splinter is living in a trailer house. Lorraine thinks she will move to outer space as the trailer is becoming quite crowded. We go on a little farther upstate and who should we come upon but Sandra Russell. Sandra is a successful artist and housewife. On the way back to St. Clair we meet Jim Hodapp in a '69 Ford and he tells us he still has his little black book.

Living not far from St. Clair is Betty Schroeder. She is busy listening to the patter of little feet. Another happy housewife is Donna Marzinske. She has just become the proud mother of a baby girl. Her other five children are boys. Donna Denn has just finished her spring house cleaning and she is a spotless housekeeper. All these kids need teachers and Carol Frank is kept quite busy. But those years of home economics are not wasted.

Our space bomb is having a little trouble and has to make a forced landing in a field. We find out that the field belongs to Harlan Witt, who raises the best crops in the state and is thinking about starting to farm on Mars. Gerald Schull happens to be helping out Harlan that day but he tells us that he usually works for a guy named Herbie.

We finally reach St. Clair where we leave out space bomb for repairs. We know it is in good hands as Ross Wilder is top mechanic at the St. Clair garage. Ross starts to tell us about his cousin Pat, but then he stops and says, "oh everyone knows what she is doing." We now go across the street and into the St. Clair State Bank where George Hubmer has just become president. It seems he is following in his grandfather's footsteps. We meet another member of the class of '59 in the bank. Marv Nicolai tells us that he is married and has taken over his fathers land company. Our space bomb is now repaired and we have no more seniors to look up, but we'll start again in '79.
